POTTER'S PROBE.

GOV. PALMER BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Potter Committee met at No. 61 Wall street, at 2 p. m. Gov. Palmer was first examined as to his connection with the army. He then said he was one of the Democratic visitors to New Orleans in November, 1876. After their arrival there he was chosen chairman of the board of visitors. They met at the St. Charles hotel. After the organization they called upon Governor Kellogg and had a free conversation with him. He said the apparent returns showed that the state had gone for Tilden, but that, in consequence of intimidation, five parishes would be thrown out and this would give the state to the Hayes electors. They went to see Cassanave and Kenner. Pinchback came in during the conversation, which was quite free. Then they called upon Gov. Wells and afterwards, when Gen. Anderson arrived, called upon the committee. The conversation was quite free. Cassanave and Kenner gave the same information that Gov. Kellogg did. They knew my sympathies for the colored people. I gave the best advice I could, but Mr. Cassanave, who was the most honest man on the returning board, said the Democratic party could not be trusted with the interests of the colored people, and that they must be kept out of power. The general feeling with all the parties with whom I conversed was a feeling of distrust for Democratic politicians. The examination of ex-Gov. Palmer was continued until half-past 5 o'clock p. m. In response to questions put by Congressman Hiseock, he said that next to emancipation, the greatest blessing the colored people received was their being mustered out of politics, which he considers to be virtually the case. The Republicans in Louisiana had used the colored people as monkeys to pull their chestnuts from the fire. He found the returning board as partisan as he expected. He told Wells and Anderson that the Tilden electors in his opinion were fairly returned, but that if they decided otherwise they should be supported by evidence which would satisfy the country at large. He believed that the Democratic party in Louisiana would have submitted to the Packard government if they believed it had been honestly elected, but they felt that they had been cheated, and would rather have federal administration with a military governor in the charge of the state. He had no doubt that the state authorities could readily discover the state of the Elizabeth Pinkston outrage, for he had satisfied himself on the subject.

AMERICAN YAHOO.

HOW YOUNG NEW YORKERS DISPORT THEMSELVES IN THE WAVES—IN FULL SIGHT OF LADIES IN PUBLIC PLACES.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Yesterday afternoon a number of young men went bathing at pier four North river. They made no pretense of donning anything in the shape of a bathing suit. They acted like wild savages. The neighborhood is thickly populated, and the travel on horse cars was almost unprecedented with excursionists going to Staten Island and other ferries. The young men in the face of women and children were viewed with disgust and indignation. One of the party who was conspicuous among others for his indecent behavior, finding himself headed off from the river, made a dash for the street and ran into a W. street car, the officer at his heels. The car was crowded, and there was general consternation among the passengers at the shocking sight of a naked man running pell-mell through a public thoroughfare and through a crowded car. He was hemmed in between the passengers, many of whom were ladies, but before the officers could have laid hands on him he got out on the front platform and made for the pier again. He dashed off before most overboard. They still kept up the chase, jumping into the water after the fugitive. The excitement of the close chase did not end here; the two men struggled desperately in the water, but handicapped as the officer was with the clothing he held on manfully to his prisoner, and pummeled him soundly to reduce him to subjection. Sergt. Gatlin threw a rope to the officer which the latter tied about the prisoner, and by this means the man was hauled on shore like a curious monster of the deep. He gave his name as Daniel Morrison, aged twenty-two years. In a similar manner six other bathers were subsequently arrested and imprisoned. They will be arraigned in court to-day.

WASHINGTON WHISPERS.

DESIGNS OF THE STRIKERS COMPLETELY SQUELCHED.

GENERAL BELIEF OF MACKENZIE'S RAID INTO MEXICO—STEWART'S CASTLE CONVERTED INTO A CHINESE HEADQUARTERS—NOTHING DONE IN ILLICIT DISTILLERS' CASES. WASHINGTON, July 29.—Crowds of idle people, mostly tramps, are gathered in the vicinity of the various government works, but no disturbance has taken place to-day. The police are out in full force and the men at work are fully protected. It is rumored about the streets that the disturbance has been organized for 1 o'clock to-day, but the police authorities discredit the rumor.

NOT DOUBTED.

No official advices have been received here confirming the report that Colonel Mackenzie has again crossed the line into Mexico, this time with a large force, in pursuit of Indians and Mexican thieves. Officials at the war office, however, do not doubt the report, and expect to hear from Gen. Ord on the subject as soon as Mackenzie returns.

CHINESE HEADQUARTERS.

One of the finest residences here, built by Ex-Senator Stewart, of Nevada, and known to at least local fame as Castle Stewart, will, it is said, become the headquarters of the new Chinese minister and his suite.

THE ILLICIT DISTILLERS.

William Earle, special counsel for the internal revenue officers now incarcerated in the Greenville jail, says that after several consultations with the attorney general and other members of the cabinet, no definite course of action has yet been determined upon, and that it will be difficult to say what will be done in advance of the developments of the case. He is of the opinion that the great mass of the people in the South Carolina favor the observance of the revenue laws and that it is unfair deduction to assume that the clamor of a few interested parties should be taken for public opinion throughout the State. Mr. Earle further says that he has a high opinion of Judge Kershaw, regarding him as a conservative and conscientious man, who has often expressed himself in favor of the enforcement of the revenue laws, and that the point is as to the power of the general government, and that a decision by the United States supreme court on the question as to the jurisdiction of national and state courts is earnestly desired by many prominent jurors in the state who entertain the same opinion on the subject as the judge, that illicit distilling is chiefly confined to the mountain districts on the northern border where the inhabitants are ignorant and uncultivated, that he has never had any difficulty in securing a jury to punish an illicit distiller, as the farmers outside of a certain portion of the state find the traffic hurtful to their interests. Mr. Earle expects to remain here some days. Officials of internal revenue say there is not the slightest fear of any trouble in the event of a special session of the federal court to try the case, efforts being made by the department to encourage the establishment of legal distilleries, which the commissioner thinks will go far to put a stop to all troubles with moonshiners.
